Kentucky Fried Chicken (KFC) has announced it will no longer provided plastic caps and straws for its drinks at its Singapore outlets 1 starting from June 2018. The move, part from its No Straws Initiative, will 2 see a reduce of 17.8 metric tonnes of single-use plastics in a year. The 3 management of KFC has say it believes every little bit counts and is proud 4 to be this first fast food restaurant in Singapore to champion this 5 movement. KFC Singapore's first attempt at going green is in December 6 2016 when it phased out dine-in paper boxes and served their meals in 7 reused baskets instead. In 2017, KFC replaced the foam packaging for 8 their breakfast platters with recyclable paper ones. The efforts reduces 9 their use of paper boxes and foam packaging within six months by nearly 10 2.5 million and more than 700,000 sets respectively.
